

Title: Solar power plant terrorist incident

Generated on: 2026-04-08 01:40:03

Copyright (C) 2026 MARMOTTES SOLAR. All rights reserved.

For the latest updates and more information, visit our website: <https://marmotresceramics.es>

-----

A man is facing terror-related charges after police say he rammed his car through a gate at a solar plant outside Las Vegas and set his car on fire, disabling the huge facility.

A Colorado man was sentenced Wednesday to prison in Nevada following his arrest last January for setting his car afire at a remote facility in what authorities initially characterized as a ...

Mesmarian is accused of ramming a car through a fence surrounding a solar array about 25 miles (40 kilometers) northeast of downtown Las Vegas and setting the vehicle afire early Jan. 4 ...

Amid an alarming trend of attacks targeting electric grid infrastructure in the country, a 34-year-old man in Las Vegas has been charged with one count of committing terrorism for attacking a solar facility ...

Federal prosecutors said that Hnaihen escalated his threats and broke into a solar power generator facility farm in Wedgefield, Florida, and "systematically" destroyed a string of solar...

The Las Vegas-area facility, known as the Mega Solar Array, is operated by Chicago-based Invenergy.

A Jordanian national allegedly systematically destroy solar panels at a Florida energy facility and threatened to blow up businesses for supporting Israel.

The FBI has joined the Metropolitan Police Department in investigating what is being considered a terror attack on the MGM Mega Solar Array facility northeast of Las Vegas.

Mesmarian was sentenced Wednesday, Dec. 27, to two to 10 years after pleading guilty but mentally ill to felony arson and property destruction charges after crashing his car into a remote ...

A Colorado man who was found mentally competent for trial has been sentenced to prison in Nevada for crashing his car into solar power facility and setting it afire last January.

Web: <https://marmotresceramics.es>

